

Ener-G Foods' GMO Policy

Ener-G (Fall 2009)

As a company Ener-G Foods does not believe that GMO ingredients (genetically modified organisms) are in the best interest of mankind. There has been no real long term testing of such ingredients as to the safety and effects that they may have on our health and well being. We try to source non-GMO ingredients whenever possible. We do however export to countries that require such notification.
